

PRESCIENT DOMESTIC BALANCED FUND (A1)

MINIMUM DISCLOSURE DOCUMENT

INVESTMENT AND RETURN OBJECTIVE

The Fund aims to deliver long term capital growth over time by offering a well-diversified portfolio investing in a broad range of domestic only asset classes in a balanced manner. The Fund will typically have high exposure to equities although some tactical asset allocation will be performed.

INVESTMENT PROCESS

The Fund invests in South African markets only across a diverse range of domestic only equities, property and interest-bearing instruments. Asset allocation is managed actively, anchored at the long-term strategic asset allocation but can be varied tactically to target outperformance of the benchmark by capitalising on signals of significant market mispricing. Where possible, a process of enhanced indexation is utilised within asset classes to deliver stable incremental alpha.

WHO SHOULD INVEST

South African investors seeking long term capital growth by investing in a typical, market related domestic balanced portfolio. The Fund is suitable for investors with a medium to long-term investment horizon and is Regulation 28 compliant.

RISK INDICATOR DEFINITION

These portfolios typically exhibit more volatility and potential for capital losses due to higher exposure to equities and exposure to offshore markets where currency fluctuations may result in capital losses. These portfolios typically target returns in the region of 5% - 6% above inflation over the long term.

FUND COMMENTARY

The US Federal Reserve faces a complex backdrop ahead of its 9-10 December meeting. With key pricing data delayed during the government shutdown, the extent of recent price increases has been unclear. The most recent reading in September showed annual inflation rising to 3%, up from 2.3% in April. Meanwhile, consumer confidence, as measured by the Conference Board, fell to its lowest level in April following the announcement of the full suite of tariffs. The Consumer Confidence Index (CCI) is one of the indicators the Fed considers when adjusting interest rates, making the upcoming decision particularly significant. With labour-market concerns rising, officials are expected to consider cutting the central bank's key interest rate to support borrowing and stabilise employment conditions.

In Europe, Germany - the region's largest economy - saw a slight improvement in its unemployment rate in November. However, the Federal Employment Agency warned that the labour market remains sluggish. Economic momentum has been difficult to regain, with the third quarter of 2025 failing to deliver an anticipated rebound as US tariffs, global trade headwinds, and increasing competition from China continued to weigh on the country's industrial sector. China, meanwhile, continues to face mounting pressures, with factory activity declining for the longest stretch on record amid a deepening economic slowdown. Nonetheless, policymakers appear in no hurry to intervene aggressively, as the country remains on track to meet its annual growth target of around 5%, despite recent economic softening. Tensions with the US have eased following a temporary trade truce reached during a meeting in South Korea between Presidents Donald Trump and Xi Jinping, though key details are still under negotiation, highlighting the fragility of the agreement. In contrast, Bank of Japan Governor Kazuo Ueda has signalled that the central bank is preparing to continue raising interest rates, though policy will remain accommodative to support Japan's moderate recovery.

South Africa also delivered its 2025 Medium-Term Budget Policy Statement (MTBPS), where the finance minister formally endorsed reducing the inflation target to 3%, aligning with the South African Reserve Bank's decision earlier this year. He noted that this marks the first adjustment to the target in 25 years - a move intended to anchor inflation at lower levels, ease the cost of living, reduce borrowing costs across the economy, and ultimately support stronger long-term growth and job creation. Consumer inflation rose to 3.6% in October from 3.4% in September, driven primarily by housing and utility costs; however, the year-to-date average of 3.15% remains well within the SARB's target range.

At the end of November, the SARB cut the repo rate by 25 basis points to 6.75%. The decision reflects confidence in inflation remaining within the new 2-4% target band and has fuelled optimism that South Africa is committed to managing both inflation and debt-servicing costs. Governor Lesetja Kganyago stressed a cautious approach amid shifting credit-rating dynamics. The rate cut was supported by stronger-than-expected tax revenues, South Africa's removal from the FATF grey list, and S&P Global's upgrade of the country's credit rating to BB with a positive outlook.

The South African equity market performed well in November, with the FTSE/JSE Africa Top 40 Index gaining 1.29%, driven largely by strong performance in the resources sector. The bond market also showed notable strength: the FTSE/JSE ALBI TR rose 3.45%, while the FTSE/JSE CILI TR advanced 3.69%. Globally, the Bloomberg Global Aggregate Index followed a similar positive trajectory, gaining 0.23%. Global equity performance was mixed - US markets diverged, with the Nasdaq Composite declining -1.51% while the S&P 500 and FTSE 100 posted modest gains of 0.13% and 0.03% respectively. In Asia, the Shanghai SE Composite, the Hang Seng Composite, and the Nikkei 225 all ended the month in negative territory.

Fund performance was strongly positive for the month, mainly due positive performance from local equity and bonds.

The Fund currently holds a moderately negative view towards South African equity and local bonds.

GLOSSARY

Annualised performance: Annualised performance shows longer term performance rescaled to a 1 year period. Annualised performance is the average return per year over the period. Actual annual figures are available to the investor on request.

Highest & Lowest performance: The highest and lowest performance for any 1 year over the period since inception have been shown.

NAV: The net asset value represents the assets of a Fund less its liabilities.

Current Yield: Annual income (interest or dividends) divided by the current price of the security.

CPU: Cents Per Unit to the Glossary

Sharpe Ratio: The Sharpe ratio is used to indicate the excess return the portfolio delivers over the risk free rate per unit of risk adopted by the fund.

Max Drawdown: The maximum peak to trough loss suffered by the Fund since inception.

% Positive Month: The percentage of months since inception where the Fund has delivered positive return.

Fund Specific Risks

Default Risk: The risk that the issuers of fixed income instruments may not be able to meet interest payments nor repay the money they have borrowed. The issuers credit quality is vital. The worse the credit quality, the greater the risk of default and therefore investment loss.

Derivatives risk: The use of derivatives could increase overall risk by magnifying the effect of both gains and losses in a Fund. As such, large changes in value and potentially large financial losses could result.

Developing Market (excluding SA) risk: Some of the countries invested in may have less developed legal, political, economic and/or other systems. These markets carry a higher risk of financial loss than those in countries generally regarded as being more developed.

Foreign Investment risk: Foreign securities investments may be subject to risks pertaining to overseas jurisdictions and markets, including (but not limited to) local liquidity, macroeconomic, political, tax, settlement risks and currency fluctuations.

Interest rate risk: The value of fixed income investments (e.g. bonds) tends to be inversely related to interest and inflation rates. Hence their value decreases when interest rates and/or inflation rises.

% Property risk: Investments in real estate securities can carry the same risks as investing directly in real estate itself. Real estate prices move in response to a variety of factors, including local, regional and national economic and political conditions, interest rates and tax considerations.

Currency exchange risk: Changes in the relative values of individual currencies may adversely affect the value of investments and any related income.

Geographic / Sector risk: For investments primarily concentrated in specific countries, geographical regions and/or industry sectors, their resulting value may decrease whilst portfolios more broadly invested might grow.

Derivative counterparty risk: A counterparty to a derivative transaction may experience a breakdown in meeting its obligations thereby leading to financial loss.

Liquidity risk: If there are insufficient buyers or sellers of particular investments, the result may lead to delays in trading and being able to make settlements, and/or large fluctuations in value. This may lead to larger financial losses than expected.

Equity investment risk: Value of equities (e.g. shares) and equity-related investments may vary according to company profits and future prospects as well as more general market factors. In the event of a company default (e.g. bankruptcy), the owners of their equity rank last in terms of any financial payment from that company.

DISCLAIMER

Collective Investment Schemes in Securities (CIS) should be considered as medium to long-term investments. The value may go up as well as down and past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. CIS's are traded at the ruling price and can engage in scrip lending and borrowing. The collective investment scheme may borrow up to 10% of the market value of the portfolio to bridge insufficient liquidity. A schedule of fees, charges and maximum commissions is available on request from the Manager. There is no guarantee in respect of capital or returns in a portfolio. A CIS may be closed to new investors in order for it to be managed more efficiently in accordance with its mandate. CIS prices are calculated on a net asset basis, which is the total value of all the assets in the portfolio including any income accruals and less any permissible deductions (brokerage, STT, VAT, auditor's fees, bank charges, trustee and custodian fees and the annual management fee) from the portfolio divided by the number of participatory interests (units) in issue. Forward pricing is used. The Fund's Total Expense Ratio (TER) reflects the percentage of the average Net Asset Value (NAV) of the portfolio that was incurred as charges, levies and fees related to the management of the portfolio. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER cannot be regarded as an indication of future TERs. During the phase in period TERs do not include information gathered over a full year. Transaction Costs (TC) is the percentage of the value of the Fund incurred as costs relating to the buying and selling of the Fund's underlying assets. Transaction cost is a necessary cost in administering the Fund and impacts Fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of Fund, investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.

The Manager retains full legal responsibility for any third-party-named portfolio. Where foreign securities are included in a portfolio there may be potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds, macroeconomic risks, political risks, foreign exchange risks, tax risks, settlement risks; and potential limitations on the availability of market information. The investor acknowledges the inherent risk associated with the selected investments and that there are no guarantees. Please note that all documents, notifications of deposit, investment, redemption and switch applications must be received by Prescient by or before 11:00 (SA) for money market funds and the Prescient Optimised Income Fund and by or before 13:00 for all other funds to be transacted at the net asset value price for that day. Where all required documentation is not received before the stated cut-off time, Prescient shall not be obliged to transact at the net asset value price as agreed to. Funds are priced at either 3pm or 5pm depending on the nature of the Fund. Prices are published daily and are available on the Prescient website.
