Fund Performance Review & Market Commentary

The Aeon Balanced Prescient Fund was up by 4.06% on a net return basis for the first quarter of 2024 and is up by 14.31% over a one-year period.

The first quarter of this year was positive for global equities. This optimism was fuelled by the growing anticipation of a 'soft landing' or even the possibility of no economic slowdown at all. The US produced largely positive economic data, which helped alleviate fears of an impending recession. The Bank of Japan (BoJ) has put an end to its negative interest rate policy by raising its policy rate for the first time in 17 years. On the other hand, in China, the government has established a GDP growth target of 5% for 2024. However, there has been no additional communication about aggressive strategies to stimulate the Chinese economy, which left investors disappointed. For the quarter ended March, the Consumer sector emerged as the top performer led by index heavyweight Richemont followed by the Mr Price Group. On the other hand, Financials experienced the most significant decline during the quarter, led by First Rand and Standard Bank.

US inflation generally exceeded expectations in the first quarter. The commodity market saw a significant rise, particularly in Brent crude oil, copper and cocoa. The surge in copper prices, driven by supply risks and an increased demand for energy transition metals, shows no signs of abating. The escalation in commodity prices contributes to inflationary pressures, dampening investor sentiment and reducing the likelihood of the aggressive rate cuts previously anticipated by the market. This sustains the "higher-for-longer" narrative which tends to be negative for equity markets.

Locally, the GDP figures for the fourth quarter of 2023 revealed that the economy underperformed, growing a mere 0.1%. This led to an overall growth of 0.6% for 2023. The disappointing performance was attributed to supply-side issues, including issues at Eskom and Transnet. In February, inflation reached a four-month peak of 5.6% year-on-year, pushing back the timeline to achieve the targeted 4.5% inflation objective. In light of these factors, the SARB decided to keep its key repo rate steady at 8.25%.

Looking ahead, South Africa's financial future remains challenging, marked by sluggish GDP growth rates and high unemployment. These conditions are likely to lead to reduced consumer spending and a widening gap in income inequality. A significant event to watch in 2024 is the South African elections scheduled for May. These highly contested elections bring with them considerable political uncertainty and tension. Our strategy focuses on astute stock selection, guided by our Growth at a Reasonable Price philosophy (GARP), which seeks value throughout economic cycles. We prioritise companies with strong cash flows that can support earnings, aiming to benefit our portfolios in the coming period.

As part of showcasing our portfolio, we aim to provide you insight into our portfolio counters. This quarter, we highlight an existing portfolio counter, AngloGold Ashanti (ANG). ANG is the world's 5th largest gold producer with 11 geographically diverse operations across the globe. ANG has implemented the Full Asset Potential program (FAP) leading to decisive action being taken at loss-making assets, resulting in tangible operational efficiencies, such as a lower all-in-sustaining cost (AISC) predicted over the next two years. Geopolitical risk has propelled the gold price to all-time highs causing this levered gold producer to deliver exceptional returns year-to-date. ANG's restructuring to a primary listing on the NYSE provides further re-rating potential, to be comparable with global peers. ANG's disciplined management, the life of mine extensions, and the lower AISC all provide tailwinds for a continued share price rally. The current gold tailwinds being experienced enhance sector conviction. We look forward to seeing a continued gold price rally benefiting both ANG and all Aeon Investment Management stakeholders.

Disclaimer

Collective Investment Schemes in Securities (CIS) should be considered as medium to long-term investments. The value may go up as well as down and past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. CIS's are traded at the ruling price and can engage in scrip lending and borrowing. The collective investment scheme may borrow up to 10% of the market value of the portfolio to bridge insufficient liquidity. A schedule of fees, charges and maximum commissions is available on request from the Manager. There is no guarantee in respect of capital or returns in a portfolio. A CIS may be closed to new investors in order for it to be managed more efficiently in accordance with its mandate. CIS prices are calculated on a net asset basis, which is the total value of all the assets in the portfolio including any income accruals and less any permissible deductions (brokerage, STT, VAT, auditor's fees, bank charges, trustee and custodian fees and the annual management fee) from the portfolio divided by the number of participatory interests (units) in issue. Forward pricing is used. The Fund's Total Expense Ratio (TER) reflects the percentage of the average Net Asset Value (NAV) of the portfolio that was incurred as charges, levies and fees related to the management of the portfolio. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER cannot be regarded as an indication of future TER's. During the phase in period TER's do not include information gathered over a full year. Transaction Costs (TC) is the percentage of the value of the Fund incurred as costs relating to the buying and selling of the Fund's underlying assets. Transaction costs are a necessary cost in administering the Fund and impacts Fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of Fund, investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.

Where a current yield has been included for Funds that derive its income primarily from interest bearing income, the yield is a weighted average yield of all underlying interest bearing instruments as at the last day of the month. This yield is subject to change as market rates and underlying investments change.

The Manager retains full legal responsibility for any third-party-named portfolio. Where foreign securities are included in a portfolio there may be potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds, macroeconomic risks, political risks, foreign exchange risks, tax risks, settlement risks; and potential limitations on the availability of market information.

Below are fund specific risks:

Default risk: The risk that the issuers of fixed income instruments (e.g. bonds) may not be able to meet interest payments nor repay the money they have borrowed. The issuers credit quality is vital. The worse the credit quality, the greater the risk of default and therefore investment loss.

Derivatives risk: The use of derivatives could increase overall risk by magnifying the effect of both gains and losses in a Fund. As such, large changes in value and potentially large financial losses could result.

Developing Market (excluding SA) risk: Some of the countries invested in may have less developed legal, political, economic and/or other systems. These markets carry a higher risk of financial loss than those in countries generally regarded as being more developed.

Foreign Investment risk: Foreign securities investments may be subject to risks pertaining to overseas jurisdictions and markets, including (but not limited to) local liquidity, macroeconomic, political, tax, settlement risks and currency fluctuations.

Interest rate risk: The value of fixed income investments (e.g. bonds) tends to be inversely related to interest and inflation rates. Hence their value decreases when interest rates and/or inflation rises.

Property risk: Investments in real estate securities can carry the same risks as investing directly in real estate itself. Real estate prices move in response to a variety of factors, including local, regional and national economic and political conditions, interest rates and tax considerations.

Currency exchange risk: Changes in the relative values of individual currencies may adversely affect the value of investments and any related income.

Geographic / Sector risk: For investments primarily concentrated in specific countries, geographical regions and/or industry sectors, their resulting value may decrease whilst portfolios more broadly invested might grow.

Derivative counterparty risk: A counterparty to a derivative transaction may experience a breakdown in meeting its obligations thereby leading to financial loss.

Liquidity risk: If there are insufficient buyers or sellers of particular investments, the result may lead to delays in trading and being able to make settlements, and/or large fluctuations in value. This may lead to larger financial losses than expected.

Equity investment risk: Value of equities (e.g. shares) and equity-related investments may vary according to company profits and future prospects as well as more general market factors. In the event of a company default (e.g. bankruptcy), the owners of their equity rank last in terms of any financial payment from that company.

The investor acknowledges the inherent risk associated with the selected investments and that there are no guarantees. Please note that all documents, notifications of deposit, investment, redemption and switch applications must be received by Prescient by or before 13:00 (SA), to be transacted at the net asset value price for that day. Where all required documentation is not received before the stated cut off time Prescient shall not be obliged to transact at the net asset value price as agreed to. Funds are priced at either 15:00 or 17:00 depending on the nature of the Fund. Prices are published daily and are available on the Prescient website.

Performance has been calculated using net NAV to NAV numbers with income reinvested. The performance for each period shown reflects the return for investors who have been fully invested for that period. Individual investor performance may differ as a result of initial fees, the actual investment date, the date of reinvestments and dividend withholding tax. Full performance calculations are available from the manager on request.
