INVESTMENT STRATEGY

The Tweedy, Browne Global High Dividend Value Fund seeks capital appreciation by investing primarily in equity securities domiciled throughout the world with above-average dividend yields selling at reasonable valuations (i.e., some level of discount from estimated intrinsic value, defined as book value, earnings value or more often private market value) which includes, generally, companies with growing dividends and companies with above average dividends where expectations have been low but are expected to improve. The Sub-Fund is actively managed without reference to any benchmark.

RISK INDICATOR DEFINITION

In addition to risk captured by the indicator, the overall Sub-Fund value may be considerably affected by: market risk, liquidity risk, currency risk, derivatives risk, counterparty risk and operational risk.

COMMITMENT OF THE ADVISER

As of 31 March 2024, the current Managing Directors and employees of Tweedy, Browne and their immediate family members, together with one of Tweedy, Browne's retired principals, had more than USD 1.6 billion in value-oriented portfolios, including USD 2.1 million in Global High Dividend (EUR) Fund.

GLOBAL HIGH DIVIDEND VALUE FUND *as of 31/03/2024MINIMUM DISCLOSURE DOCUMENT & GENERAL INVESTOR REPORT*COMMENTARY & MARKET OUTLOOK

Coming on the heels of one of their best performances in two decades, global equity markets continued their robust advance into the new year. They finished the first quarter at or around their all-time highs despite facing headwinds on the inflation and interest rate front. In this highly charged, momentum-driven, risk-on environment, the Sub-Fund continued to make considerable financial progress, returning 5.43% versus 8.20% for the MSCI EAFE Index (in EUR) and 10.17% for the MSCI EAFE Index (Hedged to EUR).

There were no material changes to the portfolio during the quarter. However, there was a modest increase in Great Britain exposure, largely due to a new purchase of Autoliv, an automotive safety manufacturer. Our purchase of DB Insurance, a South Korean insurance company, slightly increased the portfolio's exposure to Emerging Markets. Exposure to the Healthcare sector decreased somewhat with trims to several of the portfolio's Pharma holdings, including Roche, J&J, GSK, and Novartis. Finally, we trimmed several positions, including Safran and BAE Systems, which reduced the portfolio's position in Industrials.

It remains to be seen whether the upward momentum in global equity markets can hold up in the face of a world on fire with conflict, a persistently stubborn rate of core inflation, and the prospect that long-awaited interest rate cuts may be fewer in number and have to be pushed out further than anticipated. Valuation levels could also pose a challenge to the rally. Many of the high-performing constituents in market indices today trade at vertigo-inducing levels. The Shiller cyclically adjusted price-earnings ratio (CAPE) as of March 31 was at or around 34x, a level only exceeded on two other occasions in the history of the return series, which dates back to 1871. Only at the top of the dot-com bubble in December 1999 and the peak of the post-COVID rally in October 2021 were the ratios higher. If high expectations centered around AI technologies fail to materialize, inflation rekindles, and/or a conflict spins out of control, the markets could be in for a serious comeuppance.

Despite these concerns, we take comfort in the fact that the Sub-Fund portfolio is diversified by issue, industry, country, and market capitalization and consists of an increasing number of smaller and medium capitalization companies that, in our view, continue to meet our value criteria and have strong balance sheets and runways of potential future growth. If, and when, the proverbial music in Wall Street's game of musical chairs stops, we remain hopeful that our shareholders will not be left standing.

The aforementioned documents as well as the articles of incorporation may also be obtained free of charge by making a written request to the Fund's Central Administrator, State Street Bank International GmbH at Shareholder Services, 49, avenue J.F. Collective Investment Schemes in Securities (CIS) should be considered as medium to long-term investments. The value may go up as well as down and past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. CISs are traded at the ruling price and can engage in scrip lending and borrowing. The collective investment scheme may borrow up to 10% of the market value of the portfolio to bridge insufficient liquidity. A schedule of fees, charges and maximum commissions is available on request from the Fund. There is no guarantee in respect of capital or returns in a portfolio. A CIS may be closed to new investors in order for it to be managed more efficiently in accordance with its mandate. CIS prices are calculated on a net asset basis, which is the total value of all the assets in the portfolio including any income accruals and less any permissible deductions (brokerage, STT, VAT, auditor's fees, bank charges, trustee and custodian fees and the annual management fee) from the portfolio divided by the number of participatory interests (units) in issue. The Sub-Fund may enter into forward exchange contracts for the purpose of hedging its perceived exposure to certain foreign currencies. The Sub-Fund's Total Expense Ratio (TER) reflects the percentage of the average Net Asset Value (NAV) of the portfolio that was incurred as charges, levies and fees related to the management of the portfolio. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER cannot be regarded as an indication of future TERs. During the phase in period TERs do not include information gathered over a full year. Transaction Costs (TC) is the percentage of the value of the Sub-Fund incurred as costs relating to the buying and selling of the Sub-Fund's underlying assets. Transaction costs are a necessary cost in administering the Sub-Fund and impacts Sub-Fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of Sub-Fund, investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.

Where foreign securities are included in a portfolio there may be potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds, macroeconomic risks, political risks, foreign exchange risks, tax risks, settlement risks, and potential limitations on the availability of market information. The investor acknowledges the inherent risk associated with the selected investments and that there are no guarantees. Please note that all subscription documents must be received by State Street Bank International GmbH, Luxembourg Branch, and before investing. Performance has been calculated using net NAV to NAV numbers with income reinvested. The performance for each period shown reflects the return for investors who have been fully invested for that period. Individual investor performance may differ as a result of initial fees, the actual investment date, the date of reinvestments and dividend withholding tax. Full performance calculations are available from the Fund upon request.
